French Cabinet Crisis Persists 7th Day Today

ITS SOLUTION GROWS MORE DIFFICULT DAILY

PRESS AND PUBLIC FEARS PRES. DOUMERGUE MAY DISSOLVE PARLIAMENT

RADICAL AND RADICAL-SOCIALIST GROUPS ARE OBSTINATE FACTORS

Paris, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—The French cabinet crisis reached its seventh day today with a solution increasingly difficult because of the obstinacy of radicals and radical socialists. Press and public feared that President Gaston Doumergue would be forced to dissolve parliament and order new general elections.

The radical and radical-socialist groups continued to refuse support to a cabinet in which the Andre Tardieu faction would be given portfolios. Sen. Theodore Steege agreed to try formation of a new government today, but politicians gave him even less chance than Louis Barthou and Pierre Laval, who failed before him. The grave step of dissolving parliament began to appear inevitable.

A French parliament has not been dissolved for half a century, but it may become necessary due to the complicated party system which allows no stable majority in the chamber of deputies or the senate. The necessity of continuing the government departments obliges Doumergue to find a premier capable of obtaining a majority.

Paris, Dec. 11.—Senator Theodore Steege, former governor general of Morocco, accepted in principle a commission to form a cabinet from President Gaston Doumergue today.

"I will seek a union of the republican group," Steege told the United Press after he had conferred with the president at Elysee Palace.

EINSTEIN IS A REAL WISCRACKER

NOTED SCIENTIST EXCHANGES REPARTEE WITH FLOCK OF REPORTERS

By JOE ALEX MORRIS (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Dec. 11.—Prof. Albert Einstein, around whom there clusters the legend of being an aloof, retiring scientist, arrived on the liner Beigneland today and surprised New York by revealing himself as an expert at repartee and what Americans call the "wisecrack."

He stood on the deck of the liner and exchanged verbal thrusts with reporters and photographers, and when he became weary of the process—as he did on two occasions—he simply turned his back on them and walked away.

Inevitably, the first question that was put to Einstein was whether he could "explain briefly and for the lay mind" his theory of relativity.

"It would take about three days," he said. "I don't have that much time."

Find Union Card, Requisite for Claim of Widow's Insurance

Isle, Minn., Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—After a frantic search of her husband's union membership card to establish a claim to insurance, Mrs. Oscar Johnson and her five small children awaited word today from the union officials in Milwaukee.

Johnson, a member of a shipbuilders' union in Milwaukee, moved north in search of work. He visited Duluth Hearing of a job in Crosby, he set out with his family after leaving his union card as security for borrowed gas line.

In an automobile accident, Johnson was killed. His wife then began a search for the gasoline station where her husband had left his union card, a requisite for claiming life insurance. With the aid of newspapers, the card was found and forwarded to Milwaukee.

AMMEL PLANS FLIGHT TO EUROPE NEXT SUMMER

Panama City, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Roy W. Ammel, Chicago business man and flier, announced plans for a flight to Europe next summer when he was released today from the hospital.

Ammel, who flew from New York to Panama without a stop but was injured when his monoplane crashed at the start of a return flight, said he intended to repair the monoplane and use it for the proposed European flight.

He will sail Saturday for New York.

HEAVIEST FOG IN YEARS HANGS OVER ENGLISH CHANNEL

London, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—The heaviest fog over the English channel for several years endangered shipping today and caused numerous vessels to go aground.

The steamship Modavia, 4,858 tons, en route from Vancouver, grounded beneath Shakespeare Cliff, Dover, but was refloated at high tide. The Modavia signaled that no assistance was required when she went aground, but a suddenly freshening wind made her position potentially dangerous.

JUDGE ALLOWS DEBUTANTE HER BEAUTY SLEEP

EXTORTION HEARING CASE DELAYED AS PRINCIPAL WITNESS SLEPT LATE

WM. KUHN, CHICAGO, CHARGED WITH WRITING FIVE EXTORTION LETTERS

Chicago, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—A municipal judge with a reputation for severity delayed an extortion hearing today to a debutante witness could sleep late on the morning after her coming out party.

The debut of Miss Marion Wright, 18, was made last night at the Casino, where a few weeks ago she met and, detectives say, quarreled with William Kuhn, 23 year old son of a wealthy broker.

Kuhn, who had access to Gold Coast drawing rooms, is the man charged with writing five extortion letters to Miss Wright and with threatening her or some member of her family with death if she did not donate $25,000 "for the relief of unemployment."

The delay in Kuhn's hearing was announced by Judge John H. Lyle, leader of Chicago's crime drive, when he learned that Miss Wright's coming out party was to be held last night.

"Of course she'll be tired out," said the judge whom gangsters fear, "and I'll see to it the case is postponed."

Declaring they had "a fairly concrete case" against Kuhn, assistant state's attorneys made public today four of the letters which Miss Wright received. They revealed one of the strangest extortion plots against society residents in the history of Chicago.

The fifth letter was not made public because, the prosecutors said, it contained the best evidence they had against Kuhn and they did not wish to reveal its text until his hearing.

The detectives said they first suspected the young broker, who is "starting at the bottom" in the business which made his family wealthy, when Miss Wright mentioned having met and quarreled with him at a dance.

Miss Wright's father, William V. Wright, steel company executive, appealed to the "Secret Six" committee of the Chamber of Commerce after his daughter received the letters and it was through this organization Kuhn was arrested.

QUESTION FARMER REGARDING DEATH OF HIS SISTER

GAY GENT, 45, FOUND WITH HER SKULL CRUSHED, BULLET WOUNDS

PAIR HAD LIVED MANY YEARS ON SEPARATE FLOORS OF THEIR FARM HOME

Rockford, Minn., Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Delmont Gent, farmer, and brother of Gay Gent, 45, found dead with her skull crushed and pierced by a bullet, was questioned today concerning his sister's death.

Gent yesterday reported the death of his sister on the farm where the two lived only a few hours after he had sought her arrest on a charge of wood stealing.

Deputy sheriffs said the pair had lived for many years on separate floors of their farm home near here.

According to Gent's brother Forest, who lives nearby, the pair quarreled Tuesday over some wood which the sister had cut on a tract near the farm.

Yesterday morning Delmont came here and asked that a warrant be sworn for his sister's arrest on a charge of stealing wood. The Rockford justice of peace did not have the necessary blanks, so Gent went home.

A short time later he came back and said that he had found his sister dead. Authorities investigated and found her skull had been crushed and that a bullet fired from behind had pierced her skull.

Darwin Theory May Be Upset as American Archaeologists Seek Fossil Bones in Mexico

SCIENTISTS TO SEARCH FOR SUPER RACE SKELETONS

MEN AND WOMEN IN MEXICAN VALLEY WERE OVER 8 FEET TALL

FIERCE YAQUI INDIANS GUARD RELICS AND GOLD ORE DEPOSITS

By CHARLES HOLLOWAY (United Press Special Correspondent) Soyopa, Sonora, Mex., Dec. 11.—A wilderness through which Coronado and his Spanish Conquistadores toiled four centuries ago was entered today by a band of modern scientists on an international quest for traces of a prehistoric race of supermen.

Coronado led his men northward to discover one of the seven wonders of the world—the Grand Canyon of the Colorado—but this modern expedition believed it was within reach of discoveries no less important to the world of science.

The old world conquerors of the 16th century traveled afoot and on horseback, and these men of today, for all their 20th century knowledge, could command no better transportation. Guided by Indian descendants of the bands that have roamed this region for generations, a burro train was organized by the archaeologists today for the last 20 miles of their journey.

At the end of that 20-mile stretch, lay the skeleton remains of what may prove to be the long sought race of giants. The three skeletons already discovered, along with others the scientists are confident will be found in the vicinity, will form the basis of their strange research.

Existing heretofore only as a myth handed down from generation to generation by the superstitious natives of the country, this race of "Cyclops" may be established as a scientific fact by the anticipated discoveries, the scientists said.

The land through which the expedition traveled is rich in prehistoric lore, but it also bears the reputation of hiding the richest store of gold ore in the world. But the war-like Yaqui tribes that dwell in the district always have driven gold seekers back—at least none ever returned the richer for his experience.

It was just such a hunt that brought J. L. Coker, veteran Sonora mining operator and guide of the present expedition, to the banks of the Yaqui river where he found the three giant skeletons. His men were digging near the stream when they came upon a number of fossilized bones.

Forgetting the gold, the miners turned their spades to the business of uncovering their newest find. They worked through four feet of the soft earth and found the remains of what had been a man and two women.

"We were almost struck dumb by the discovery," said Coker. "These were not the bones of humans such as we had expected. They were the bones of giants."

"The man was eight feet three inches tall. The women were almost as large. It may have been a prehistoric family, placed there in death and remaining to give the world a key to their existence."

NEW CENSUS ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Washington, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Census Director Stuart announced today a new census would be taken in representative American cities to determine the extent of unemployment.

The census will not be as complete as that taken last April but will be expected to show a good cross section of the present condition. The last census was taken as of April 1 and there are many thousands more unemployed now than then.

FOUR MEN KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING AT DAKOTA CITY

Dakota City, Neb., Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Four men, three of them residents of Sioux City, Ia., and one a resident of Fremont, were killed at a grade crossing here last night when their automobile was struck by Burlington motor train No. 16, traveling between Lincoln and Sioux City.

The dead are Earl Sizemore, 36, of Sioux City; Otis Sizemore, 33, of Sioux City; J. F. Daniels, 33, of Sioux City; and Leslie Holcomb, of Fremont.

EFFORT MADE TO CLEAR THE NAME OF REMBRANDT, ARTIST

FAMOUS DUTCH PAINTER AND ETCHER—UNDER SENTENCE OF BANKRUPTCY FALL

DISTANT RELATIVE OF PAINTER'S WIFE REOPENS CASE AFTER 2½ CENTURIES

Amsterdam, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—An effort to clear the name of Rembrandt, famous Dutch painter and etcher, of a sentence of bankruptcy existing when he died 261 years ago, has been made in a petition filed in court here yesterday.

Rembrandt Harmenszoon Van Rijn will be restored to all his former rights and prerogatives "as a citizen in good repute" if the courts are satisfied that the document filed in his behalf is legally correct. The petition was signed by Saskia Van Bylenburg, a distant relative of the painter's wife, who felt that justice was due the man who perhaps glorified his country more than anybody else.

The painter was declared bankrupt 13 years before he died. He owed tens of thousands of florins at the time of his death.

The petition is considered the first attempt in the history of jurisprudence to reopen any case after an elapse of over two and a half centuries.

MISSING MAN AND FAMILY

Police of Wisconsin and Illinois are searching for J. Everett Sapp (inset), business man of Rockford, Ill., who has been missing since last Friday. Photo shows Mrs. Sapp and her two children. Miss Helen Schaner, cigar clerk in a Rockford hotel, also disappeared last Friday and police fear that both may have been slain. Sapp's abandoned car, with bullet holes in the side, was found near South Beloit, Wis., last Saturday.

Simmons was coming down the Lead hill road when his car swerved over the bluff. His wife was in a hospital today with cuts and bruises. She is expected to recover.

JOY AND GLOOM HANGS OVER TOWN WHITEHORSE, Y. T.

JOY BECAUSE KADING AND MARYEN WERE RESCUED BY PILOT

GLOOM BECAUSE IT WAS LEARNED INTREPID PILOT, CAPT. BURKE, WAS DEAD

Whitehorse, Yukon, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—A mixed feeling of joy and gloom hung over this city today—joy because Emil Kading and Bob Maryen were rescued by Pilot Everett Wasson; and gloom because it was learned Capt. E. A. J. Burke, intrepid aviator, was dead.

Kading and Maryen, who had been missing with Captain Burke in the Laird river district since October 12, when their airplane was forced down in the Laird river, about 12 miles from Wolfe Lake, were found yesterday by Wasson and his companion, Joe Walsh, veteran woodsman, in an improvised camp about 40 miles from the abandoned Burke plane.

Kading said that when the plane in which he, Maryen and Burke were flying, was forced down, the pontoons were broken in the landing; and they could not be repaired.

After remaining with the disabled plane for a few days, Kading said, the trio decided to set off in search of aid. Burke grew weaker each day, as they slowly wandered over almost impassable country and finally, when their supply of food ran out, they shot a caribou, which Burke was too weak to eat. On Nov. 20, after six weeks of wandering over ice and snow in freezing temperatures, Capt. Burke died of exposure.

Twice the missing trio saw rescue planes circling over the abandoned plane, but they could not attract the pilots' attention. They saw Wasson's plane on another occasion, Kading said, but they still could not make their presence known.

STENOGRAPHER TELLS OF HER LOVE AFFAIR

MISS GRACE BRANDON TAKES STAND IN SHEPARD TRIAL, KANSAS CITY

ARMY OFFICER IS CHARGED WITH MURDERING HIS WIFE

By REX R. GOAD (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, Kansas, Dec. 11.—Miss Grace Brandon, a youthful blonde stenographer from San Antonio, Tex., today told of her love affair with Maj. Charles A. Shepard.

She appeared in federal district court here as a government witness in the trial of the army officer on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Zenna Shepard.

Desire to marry the stenographer, the government contends, was the motive for the crime with which Major Shepard is accused.

HOOVER AND EMERGENCY RELIEF FACE ATTACKS

HARSH CRITICISM OF THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF NATION DEVELOPS

SELDOM HAVE SUCH PERSONAL ATTACKS BEEN MADE FROM SENATE FLOOR

Washington, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—With a troubled congressional situation disturbed anew by injection of the world court issue, President Hoover and his emergency relief program faced further attacks in the senate today.

Consideration in the upper house of the $110,000,000 emergency unemployment bill was expected to bring out a continuation of the harsh criticism of Mr. Hoover which developed yesterday. Seldom has a chief executive been subjected to such personal attacks as are being made from the senate floor.

Two important matters were taken up by senate committees. The proposal of Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, that 40,000,000 bushels of government-owned wheat be fed to the needy was before the agriculture committee. The interstate commerce committee examined President Hoover's nominees to the reorganized power commission.

The house resumed consideration of the interior department appropriation bill while the house naval affairs committee continued hearings on the naval building program.

Defiant democrats have buried with a dirge all thought of harmony with President Hoover.

Goaded by democratic colleagues, the metropolitan press and finally by Mr. Hoover's sharply critical statement on emergency relief, Minority Leader Robinson publicly has discarded the harmony or co-operation role. Robinson read himself out of all bipartisan responsibility yesterday in a speech of firmly measured moderation designed as a rebuke to the president. His democratic colleagues apparently welcomed Robinson's action.

The senate alignment changed with presentation of the unemployment bill. Regular republicans are standing there with the president. Robinson told the United Press he would renew the attack today. He expects to direct fire against the provision which would permit the president to shift the various appropriations from one project to another.

A fight over the world court developed with the prospect that the project of American adherence, party lines and possibly destroy administration plans for the short session.

The first opposition to the court idea came from a republican, Senator Johnson of California. Johnson, with Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, Republican Floor Leader Watson and President Pro Tem Moses of the senate, will fight his party chieftain on this issue.

When any defense of the president on the world court is made in the senate some democrat, such as Senator Swanson of Virginia, probably will make it.

World court strategy is being formulated now by both sides. Borah will expedite committee action and bring the project to the floor if he can. The court men probably will attempt to keep the issue in committee until congress meets a year from now.

SHORTER HOURS MOVEMENT GROWS

BOTH AS PRINCIPLE AND MEANS OF FURNISHING INCREASED EMPLOYMENT

Washington, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—The movement for shorter hours in business and industry, both as a principle and as a means of furnishing increased employment, was extended today to 2,000,000 government and railway workers.

Railway union leaders last night approved the program for shorter hours for the 1,600,000 men in the industry and directed their executive committee to meet with railroad executives to discuss the plan. The union chiefs have been meeting here since Monday.

This was not expected to have an immediate effect on employment, but ultimately, if the program is adopted, addition of more than 100,000 men was considered probable.

The American Federation of Labor has begun a campaign to cut down the working week for government employees following a successful fight to reduce hours in private industry.

Burke grew weaker each day, as they slowly wandered over almost impassable country and finally, when their supply of food ran out, they shot a caribou, which Burke was too weak to eat. On Nov. 20, after six weeks of wandering over ice and snow in freezing temperatures, Capt. Burke died of exposure.

Twice the missing trio saw rescue planes circling over the abandoned plane, but they could not attract the pilots' attention. They saw Wasson's plane on another occasion, Kading said, but they still could not make their presence known.

STENOGRAPHER TELLS OF HER LOVE AFFAIR

MISS GRACE BRANDON TAKES STAND IN SHEPARD TRIAL, KANSAS CITY

ARMY OFFICER IS CHARGED WITH MURDERING HIS WIFE

By REX R. GOAD (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, Kansas, Dec. 11.—Miss Grace Brandon, a youthful blonde stenographer from San Antonio, Tex., today told of her love affair with Maj. Charles A. Shepard.

She appeared in federal district court here as a government witness in the trial of the army officer on a charge of murdering his wife, Mrs. Zenna Shepard.

Desire to marry the stenographer, the government contends, was the motive for the crime with which Major Shepard is accused.

HOOVER AND EMERGENCY RELIEF FACE ATTACKS

HARSH CRITICISM OF THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF NATION DEVELOPS

SELDOM HAVE SUCH PERSONAL ATTACKS BEEN MADE FROM SENATE FLOOR

Washington, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—With a troubled congressional situation disturbed anew by injection of the world court issue, President Hoover and his emergency relief program faced further attacks in the senate today.

Consideration in the upper house of the $110,000,000 emergency unemployment bill was expected to bring out a continuation of the harsh criticism of Mr. Hoover which developed yesterday. Seldom has a chief executive been subjected to such personal attacks as are being made from the senate floor.

Two important matters were taken up by senate committees. The proposal of Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, that 40,000,000 bushels of government-owned wheat be fed to the needy was before the agriculture committee. The interstate commerce committee examined President Hoover's nominees to the reorganized power commission.

The house resumed consideration of the interior department appropriation bill while the house naval affairs committee continued hearings on the naval building program.

Defiant democrats have buried with a dirge all thought of harmony with President Hoover.

Goaded by democratic colleagues, the metropolitan press and finally by Mr. Hoover's sharply critical statement on emergency relief, Minority Leader Robinson publicly has discarded the harmony or co-operation role.

Robinson read himself out of all bipartisan responsibility yesterday in a speech of firmly measured moderation designed as a rebuke to the president. His democratic colleagues apparently welcomed Robinson's action.

The senate alignment changed with presentation of the unemployment bill. Regular republicans are standing there with the president. Robinson told the United Press he would renew the attack today. He expects to direct fire against the provision which would permit the president to shift the various appropriations from one project to another.

A fight over the world court developed with the prospect that the project of American adherence, party lines and possibly destroy administration plans for the short session.

The first opposition to the court idea came from a republican, Senator Johnson of California. Johnson, with Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, Republican Floor Leader Watson and President Pro Tem Moses of the senate, will fight his party chieftain on this issue.

When any defense of the president on the world court is made in the senate some democrat, such as Senator Swanson of Virginia, probably will make it.

World court strategy is being formulated now by both sides. Borah will expedite committee action and bring the project to the floor if he can. The court men probably will attempt to keep the issue in committee until congress meets a year from now.

SHORTER HOURS MOVEMENT GROWS

BOTH AS PRINCIPLE AND MEANS OF FURNISHING INCREASED EMPLOYMENT

Washington, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—The movement for shorter hours in business and industry, both as a principle and as a means of furnishing increased employment, was extended today to 2,600,000 government and railway workers.

Railway union leaders last night approved the program for shorter hours for the 1,600,000 men in the industry and directed their executive committee to meet with railroad executives to discuss the plan. The union chiefs have been meeting here since Monday.

This was not expected to have an immediate effect on employment, but ultimately, if the program is adopted, addition of more than 100,000 men was considered probable.

The American Federation of Labor has begun a campaign to cut down the working week for government employees following a successful fight to reduce hours in private industry.

81st Death in Traffic Mishaps in Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Minneapolis' traffic fatalities list was one up on last year's today with the death of Seymour Kilmer, a pedestrian who suffered a fractured skull when run down last Friday. Kilmer was the 81st death this year as compared with 80 to the same date last year.

Funeral Rites for
Mrs. Gust Olander of
Deerwood on Monday

Funeral rites for Mrs. Gust Olander of Deerwood who passed away Friday evening at the St. Joseph's hospital, were held Monday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock from the home, and at 2 o'clock from the Swedish Lutheran church at Crosby. Rev. P. G. Fallquist of the Swedish Bethany church of Brainerd officiated.

Mrs. Emma Josephine Olander was born September 30, 1863 at Asenhoga, Smoland, Sweden, and arrived in America September 1888. She came to Minneapolis where she was united in marriage on May 2, 1896 to Gust Olander. To this union four sons were born, Gustaf, of Minneapolis, Herman and Axel Olander of Deerwood, another son Oscar having preceded her in death.

The family moved to Deerwood in 1902 where they resided at the time of her death.

Besides her three sons, she leaves her husband and a foster daughter Marion, also a sister living in Sweden. She also leaves a host of friends who remember her untiring work in the community. The esteem in which she was held was evidenced by a large number of friends attending her funeral, also by the number of beautiful floral tributes sent.

Penney Lady Employees
Guests at Yuletide Party
Given by Mrs. R. E. Wyatt

Mrs. R. E. Wyatt entertained at a charming Christmas party for the lady employees of the J. C. Penney Company store last evening at her home, 515 North Bluff.

The party opened with a dinner served at 6:30 o'clock, at which covers were laid for 12, Dorothy Maghan and Lois Wolford serving. The rooms of the home had been beautifully decorated with the Christmas motif, with a lovely Christmas tree under which over a hundred gifts were piled high.

The opening of the gifts was followed by bridge played at three tables. Miss Mathilda Kirsch received first prize and Mrs. Calvin Orth received second prize.

The guests included the Misses Marie Volk, Nettie Dullum, Mardelle Mraz, Mathilda Kirsch and Caroline Graff and Mrs. Gertrude Wolford and Mrs. Charles Hill as employees of the store; Mrs. Calvin Orth, Mrs. George Orth, and Miss Mary Pulkabeck and Mrs. Lind of Crosby.

T. P. Downs of Topeka
Addresses Knights of Columbus Last Evening

T. P. Downs of Topeka, Kans., was in the city last evening, being the principal speaker at an open meeting, held at the St. Francis Guild hall under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus.

After the open meeting, a program was rendered and a luncheon served. George O'Brien and his committee were in charge of the refreshments.

A private meeting of the Knights of Columbus was held later, at which Mr. Downs again spoke. Both his addresses were educational and touched many of the various topics of the present day which are of vital interest to all.

District Deputy E. G. Mraz of Staples was also present, and gave a short talk at both meetings.

Thompson-Holland
Wedding at Bethlehem
Lutheran Parsonage

Miss Clara L. Holland and Andrew Thompson, both of Verndale, were united in marriage yesterday noon at the Bethlehem Lutheran parsonage. Rev. J. R. Michaelson officiating, using the Lutheran ring ceremony.

Witnesses were Mrs. R. A. Michaelson and Peder Madsen.

The newlyweds will make their home at Verndale.

Funeral Rites for
Mrs. Gust Olander of
Deerwood on Monday

Funeral rites for Mrs. Gust Olander of Deerwood who passed away Friday evening at the St. Joseph's hospital, were held Monday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock from the home, and at 2 o'clock from the Swedish Lutheran church at Crosby. Rev. P. G. Fallquist of the Swedish Bethany church of Brainerd officiated.

Mrs. Emma Josephine Olander was born September 30, 1863 at Asenhoga, Smoland, Sweden, and arrived in America September 1888. She came to Minneapolis where she was united in marriage on May 2, 1896 to Gust Olander. To this union four sons were born, Gustaf, of Minneapolis, Herman and Axel Olander of Deerwood, another son Oscar having preceded her in death.

The family moved to Deerwood in 1902 where they resided at the time of her death.

Besides her three sons, she leaves her husband and a foster daughter Marion, also a sister living in Sweden. She also leaves a host of friends who remember her untiring work in the community. The esteem in which she was held was evidenced by a large number of friends attending her funeral, also by the number of beautiful floral tributes sent.

Congregational Circles

Circles of the First Congregational church will meet at the following homes, on Friday afternoon:

Circle No. 1, Mrs. J. L. Frederic, 310 North Seventh street.

Circle No. 2, Mrs. Geo. Thomas, 511 North Ninth street.

Circle No. 3, Mrs. E. R. Draper, 704 North Fourth street.

Circle No. 4, Mrs. R. D. Conklin, O'Brien apartments.

Methodist Church Circle No. 2

Circle No. 2 of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. Ed. Anderson, North Fifth street yesterday afternoon, being entertained by Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Harry Peterson. Luncheon and sale at the gas office Saturday was discussed and today Mrs. Minske entertained Circle No. 1 and plans completed. The committee announced they will serve lunch from 12 noon until 8 p. m. Circle No. 2 will also serve the Men's Brotherhood supper next Wednesday night at the church.

The hostesses served a lovely lunch at the close of the business meeting.

DE MOLAY DINNER, DEGREES FRIDAY

Granite City Chapter Guests of Roosevelt Chapter in Evening Activities

DANCE CLOSES PROGRAM

135 Covers Laid for 6:15 P. M. Dinner; Degree Work at 7:30 P. M.

Tomorrow evening the Roosevelt Chapter, order of DeMolays will be hosts to the Granite City Chapter of St. Cloud, at a dinner, degree work in which the Granite City chapter will take part, and a dance.

The evening's entertainment will open with a dinner served to the boys at 6:15 o'clock at the Masonic hall, at which covers will be laid for 135. Guests at the dinner will include 45 boys from the St. Cloud chapter, together with their advisors; the Brainerd chapter and their advisors. The boys from Crosby, members of the Brainerd chapter, will be present one hundred percent. The dinner will be served by the advisory council, assisted by the boys, with the following tasty menu being prepared: combination salad, baked ham baked in rye dough, scalloped potatoes, string beans, pickles, jelly, parkerhouse rolls, coffee, cream, apple pie a la mode.

The degree work will open at 7:30 o'clock with between ten and 15 St. Cloud and Brainerd candidates receiving the initiatory and the DeMolay degree. In order to confer both degrees the same evening, a special dispensation was received from "Dad" Frank B. Carey of Duluth, state advisor. The St. Cloud chapter will put on the initiatory degree, the Brainerd chapter putting on the DeMolay degree. An invitation is extended by the boys to all Masons and Majority DeMolays to attend this degree work.

The Gate City Orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for the dance to open at 9:30 o'clock at the Iron Exchange hall. The dance is free to all DeMolays, Majority DeMolays and Masons, their wives and sweethearts.

A special guest of the evening will be "Dad" Carey of Duluth, state advisor.

The entertaining of the Granite City Chapter by the Roosevelt Chapter is an annual affair, and one long looked forward to by both chapters.

The committee in charge have left nothing undone to make this evening perfect, and everything is in readiness for the "big night" of the DeMolays.

Exclusion of Russian Goods

THE BRAINERD DISPATCH which early last June called attention to the flood of wheat and anthracite coal shipped by Russia to the United States and being sold at below market prices, now finds the problem has become one of national importance.

According to the Washington Post "Senator Oddie, of Nevada, demands an embargo against importation into the United States of all goods manufactured in Soviet Russia. Instead of setting up fragile barriers that can be evaded by the commercial shysters of Moscow, he would put an end to the Communist dumping program with one single blow. His bill is the most direct and practical method of dealing with Soviet slave-labor competition that has yet been advanced.

"The Treasury has strengthened its restrictions against importation of convict-made goods. Next year a provision of the tariff bill excluding all merchandise made by forced or indentured labor will become effective. But at best these are only partial barriers against the dumping program of the Soviet. Obviously more drastic action must be taken if American industries are to be protected.

"Under ordinary circumstances the tariff acts as a protection against dumping of foreign goods on the American market. But the red regime of Russia is producing goods from confiscated raw materials with slave labor. Tariff rates are ineffective against such a competitor when it undertakes to 'sweat blood out of the Russian people' and to demoralize the markets of the world. The Communist menace calls for a straight embargo that will outlaw this trade so far as the United States is concerned.

"This drastic action is justified by the purpose of the Communist program. Proceeds from the Russian goods that are dumped in the United States and other countries are being used to strengthen the communistic system. If the practice were allowed to go on, nearly every industry in the country would be undermined sooner or later. It is a short-sighted policy that allows some industries to take advantage of communistic prices today, when success of the dumping venture would mean demoralization of all markets within a few years. The five-year plan is designed to equip Russia for the destruction of capitalism.

"An embargo against Russian goods would probably mean a complete break in the commercial relations between the two countries. Critics will cry out against the Oddie bill for that reason. But what is to be gained by selling equipment to a clique that is using it to destroy American industry? Commercial relations with an enemy government that is making every effort to bring ruin upon this and other countries can not be justified under any circumstances.

"The Oddie bill ought to be enacted along with the other measures designed to protect American labor."

Telephone Paradoxes

THE telephone has upset the calendar, says an exchange. Now, over a circuit 14,000 miles long, we may speak on one day to a friend in Australia the next day; because if it is nighttime for us, it will be the following morning for him. Time in the United States and Australia differs by about 15 hours.

This is but one of the many telephone paradoxes. It has, so far as transmission of messages is concerned, entirely eliminated both time and space. It has brought all the major countries of the world within speaking distance. It has conquered the obstacles of mountains, oceans and desert that, not so many years ago, made it a matter of months for the sending of a letter a few thousand miles.

Compared to the achievements of the telephone, Aladdin's magic lamp was but a trivial parlor trick. Physical laws bow down before it. What a monument to private initiative, enterprise and ambition!

Sermon on Advertising

IN Monday's Minneapolis Tribune, as recorded in Brisbane's column, Calvin Coolidge published an excellent sermon on advertising.

Having good merchandise is not enough, said Mr. Coolidge, "it is just as essential to create a desire for it. That is advertising."

The article concludes: "Goods not worth advertising are not worth selling." Wise words, from a wise man.

Somebody else put it even more briefly: "If your business isn't worth advertising, advertise it for sale."

A LETTER headed "Somewhere in France" and dated April 15, 1917, was received by Bert Johns, deputy county auditor of Deadwood, S. D., 13 years after it was written. An old war "buddy" of Johns' wrote the letter to Johns who was on furlough at his home in England. The letter was delivered to England and thereupon forwarded to Deadwood. No explanation for the delay was made, other than delayed by the censor.

MINNESOTA has been accustomed to having its football team called a thundering herd, the giants of the North, and other satisfying things, until that Michigan game when a sports writer down there drew a red herring across the trail and called the Minnesotans herring chasers and other euphonious epithets, all of which was taken exception to in the Minnesota Daily, the university publication.

A NEW course of special importance to persons interested in the game and fur bearing species of Minnesota will be given for the first time this year by the division of entomology and economic zoology at University Farm, St. Paul. The new course will be given by Ralph T. King, instructor, and goes by the name of "Economic Vertebrate Zoology."

THE Rochester Journal has suggested that Senator Henrik Shipstead become a candidate for president in 1932 or possibly four years later. The Journal stated that considerable talk was going on in Twin City political circles regarding a possible Shipstead candidacy.

STATE IN CHARGE OF NEW YORK BANK

BANK OF UNITED STATES HAS CAPITAL OF $25,250,000, 50 BRANCHES

New York, Dec. 11.—(AP)—The state superintendent of banks, Joseph A. Broderick, today took possession of the Bank of United States, an institution which had deposits of $202,972,000. There are 50 branches in New York City.

Heavy withdrawals were reported last night at 13 branches in the Bronx and Brooklyn.

The Bank of United States was organized in 1913 under a state charter. It has no connection with the federal government. Since incorporation a law has been passed prohibiting use of a similar name for any banking company through belief there might be confusion between names of the private bank and the government.

Leading financial interests of the city, including representatives of J. P. Morgan & Company and federal reserve authorities, worked all night last night in an effort to aid the bank—the aid plan having centered on a proposed merger which would have brought a billion dollar bank.

The superintendent of banks was informed this morning that the afternoon papers will carry an advertisement of the assistance which the clearing house banks expect to render in the situation. This would take the form of loans against the net claims of depositors to the extent of 50 per cent of such claims properly authenticated.

As of September 24, 1930, the date of the last bank call, the capital of the bank was reported at $225,000,000; surplus and undivided profits of $17,156,000 and gross deposits of $202,972,000. Deposits on September 30, 1929, were $242,322,280.

These negotiations, however, ended without result and the directors of the bank made the following statement this morning:

"Resolved, that whereas rumors have been circulated which caused abnormal withdrawals of deposits, and it is feared that if the bank is opened Thursday morning, these withdrawals may continue; that there will be in more than one of the branches of the bank, large numbers of persons, seeking withdrawal of their deposits, which may result in disorder, and it is desired that all depositors be treated equally and the assets conserved for their benefit; and whereas the directors feel that in view of conditions it would be unwise to continue to receive and pay out monies, that the officers of the bank be and they are hereby authorized to advise the superintendent of banks of the state of New York that they believe it to be for the best interests of the depositors of the institution that by cause of the emergency, he take possession of the assets of the bank in accordance with the banking law of the state of New York with the hope that a speedy and satisfactory reorganization be effected, the bank request that the state take up to depositors paid at the earliest possible date."

CINCINNATI UNION PRINTERS FAVOR 5 DAY WORKING WEEK

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Union printers here have voted to adopt the five-day working week to relieve unemployment among printers thrown out of work by business depression and by recent discontinuance of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The five-day week will prevail until normal conditions have been restored.

SAYS FORMER KAISER IS NOW JUST A 'FUNNY OLD MAN'

New York, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Hendrik Willem Van Loon, the American author, who lives in Holland, arrived today on the Red Star liner Belgenland with the report that the former emperor of Germany is now "just a funny old man."

"Nobody pays any attention to him any more," said Van Loon, "and folk don't even know where he lives. They send him out afterwards to get some cookies and the Dutch folks say: 'Oh, there goes that funny old man.'"

Among Van Loon's treasured possessions was a picture of his pair of dachshunds which he and Professor Albert Einstein agreed "solved the problem of parallel lines."

BRAINERD TO HEAD I. C. C. AS CHAIRMAN

Washington, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Commissioner Ezra Brainerd, Jr., has been elected chairman of the Interstate Commerce commission for 1931, it was announced today.

The new chairman, who succeeds Frank McNaamy, comes from Muskogee, Okla. He was appointed in 1921 by President Coolidge.

CHAPTER I.

"KISS ME, honey!"

"No! No, Neil..."

A silent struggle in the dark hall. Fear fluttering in the girl's heart—the thrilling fear which Neil could always inspire. His arms pinned her close, but she managed to twist her head so that his kiss fell on her cheek rather than her mouth.

It was exciting to have Neil want to kiss her, but the actual feel of his lips crushed on her own woke tumult in her mind, a surge of emotions which she was not sure were all pleasant.

The light of the street lamp, slanting through the glass panels of the front door did not reach this space under the stairs. Ardeth could barely make out Neil's face poised above her. A white patch... two dark holes—those were his eyes burning down into her own...

...a dark slash of mouth... Something leaped in the girl's heart—something which was not all rapture nor yet all fear.

She began to struggle. "Neil, let me go! I'll wonder where I am!" she whispered frantically.

"Kiss me again, then."

"No! Neil... please?" Twisting helplessly, "You shouldn't do this—waiting here for me—every night like this!"

"Why not? You like it. You're my girl, aren't you? Go on, say it. Ardeth, say you're my girl."

She had begun to struggle wildly, but in silence. Fighting herself now, because it was exciting and pleasant to have Neil's arm about her.

"Please let me go! Neil, they'll wonder... somebody'll come out and find us!"

The warning stilled her. She ceased to struggle, and Neil's arms grew tense about her as footsteps scraped on the wooden steps outside. The front door opened. Heavy footsteps going upstairs over their heads.

The girl smothered a nervous giggle, and in the dark Neil grinned.

A door upstairs opened. Shut. "It's Tom!" The girl's whisper. "I've got to go!"

The spell was broken. He did not resist when she drew out of his arms, but he hung on to one hand and asked softly:

"Want to go to a movie tonight?"

"Can't." She was groping for the banister. "Have to wash out some things for tomorrow."

"Why?" came his quick, suspicious whisper. "Who you going out with?"

She laughed teasingly. Snatched her hand away and ran lightly up the steps.

He thrust a quick hand through the spokes of the banister and caught one slim ankle.

"Who are you going out with?" he repeated darkly.

She squirmed. Smothered a laugh. "You! Foolish! Now will you let me go?"

"I'll be up in the morning..." He freed her and she fled up the stairs.

In the dark upper hall she stopped for a moment to collect herself, pressing fingers against her hot cheeks to cool them. Sharp eyes were waiting beyond that door which showed a yellow break of light at the threshold.

Ardeth pulled her hat straight. Tucked the ends of her hair under. Smoothed her blouse crumpled by Neil's embrace.

had seen many such silent skirmishes as it had witnessed tonight.

Of course there was nothing really wrong. . . . After all, she was Neil's girl. Some day, she supposed, they'd get married.

That was the way marriages happened in Ardeth's circle of life. You saw a boy you liked . . . or sometimes you didn't even like him—but there was no one else around at the moment. You went to a party with him—or to a movie.

You went again. Pretty soon people began to expect you to be always together. Pretty soon you found people expected you to get married. So you did.

Ardeth was Neil's girl. For three years she'd been called his girl—before then, in fact—he'd come with her. Ever since she'd come to live with Aunt Stel and found Neil Burke in the flat below.

But Neil shouldn't stop her as you please, with never so much as a thank you."

The flame died down in Ardeth. She had the startled look of one rudely awakened.

"Oh . . . I'm sorry, Aunt Stel. I—I had to stay a little later. Mr. Hugeson wanted us to check some new stock."

She was checked by a snort from Bet, Aunt Stel's elder daughter, a girl a year younger than Ardeth.

"That's a hot one!" jeered Bet. "I suppose you think we don't know you were down there in the hall necking with Neil Burke! Honestly, I should think you'd be ashamed! I'd die with shame if anyone opened the door and walked in on you!"

A hard, prim little line came around Bet's young mouth when she said this. You saw, in that moment, how like Aunt Stel she would be in a few years' time.

Ardeth flushed hotly. "You—you nasty little spy!" Her voice was low and it shook.

"Spy!" Bet leaped to her guns. "A person doesn't have to spy to see what a fool you make of yourself—you boy-struck thing!"

"Boy—struck!" Ardeth was stung into defense. "You're the boy-struck one! Hanging around the phone every night hoping—" "Stop it!" Aunt Stel leaped into the breach. Pointing the carving knife at her niece to emphasize her words. "Let me tell you one thing, my girl. If you—"

"Oh, for God's sake!" Tom's bellow drowned them all out. "Shut up, can't you? How'd you expect a guy to read his paper with a pack of women yelping about?"

Crushing silence followed, for Tom was czar here. Though only twenty-six years of age, he was the elder son and had been the mainstay of the family since Uncle Ed had died.

He transfixed them with a glare before he returned to the sporting page.

With an air of injured innocence Bet subsided. Fan and Paul, the twins, who had brightened up at the promise of a quarrel, turned in disappointment to their bread and gravy and resumed their efforts to kick each other under the table, undetected. Aunt Stel set her face and grudgingly carved another portion of pot roast.

Ardeth went into the bedroom and pulled off her hat and coat. She hated these scenes coming at the end of a hard day's work. The depression which she always felt in this shabby house was creeping over her again.

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

December 11, 1905

Joseph Weitzel has decided to go into the livery business in Brainerd and a deal was consummated Saturday by which he succeeds to the business of J. M. Gray. He has rented the old Kinkadee building, south of the Gardner block on South 5th street.

Brainerd was dryer than a chip yesterday so far as the saloons were concerned for Chief of Police E. H. Simmons swooped down on them about 11 a. m. with the order to close up, which was promptly obeyed. The chief of police and Mayor O'Brien had been discussing the matter. This is the first time that Brainerd has been dry in a long time, the other being during Mayor Halsted's administration.

Fred Sanborn is on the St. Thomas college basketball team and will be one of the stars of that game at the institution this winter according to the St. Paul Dispatch.

The localerie of Eagles will celebrate their third anniversary with a social reunion of members and families Friday evening.

Work is being pushed again with vigor in the big Pickands-Mather company shaft east of the city. The men are still drifting or cross cutting and have gone about 150 feet which is past the point where the drill was first sunk. Samples of rock are being taken at intervals and sent east for analysis, the results of which are not being given out at present. The fact that this company continues its work and is expending large sums of money here is the best indication that there is something of unusual magnitude here on the ore line.

Sheriff O. P. Erickson arrived from a business trip north this afternoon. Nobby Entriken returned yesterday from New Orleans where he has been employed. He was taken sick some time ago, and came back to recuperate.

EXPERIMENT STATION ANNOUNCES NEW FLAX

St. Paul, Dec. 11.—The Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, University Farm, announces as ready for distribution a new flax of exceptional merit. This flax bears the name of "Redwing" and seed supplies are available through certified seed growers of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association.

According to an announcement issued from the station, farmers desiring seed of this new variety, which is high-yielding and wilt resistant, may secure such seed at the going price of from $3.00 to $3.25 a bushel so long as supplies are available. County agents can furnish names of local growers, or complete lists of farmers having seeds for sale may be had by writing to the Agronomy Division, University Farm, St. Paul.

Some 67 certified seed growers of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association grew seed plots from seeds supplied by the Experiment Station, and it is believed that at least 2,000 bushels of seed will be available for planting next spring.

A. C. Army, experiment station agronomist, says that Redwing flax has made its best showing in central and southern Minnesota, though it has performed well in the Red River Valley. In the valley, however, Bison does better. Redwing is somewhat higher yielding than Buda and matures three or four days earlier. It is moderately susceptible to rust, while it is resistant to wilt.

As a word of caution, it is stated that no Redwing has been produced outside of the experiment station except by certified seed growers.

Exclusion of Russian Goods

THE BRAINERD DISPATCH which early last June called attention to the flood of wheat and anthracite coal shipped by Russia to the United States and being sold at below market prices, now finds the problem has become one of national importance.

According to the Washington Post "Senator Oddie, of Nevada, demands an embargo against importation into the United States of all goods manufactured in Soviet Russia. Instead of setting up fragile barriers that can be evaded by the commercial shysters of Moscow, he would put an end to the Communistic dumping program with one single blow. His bill is the most direct and practical method of dealing with Soviet slave-labor competition that has yet been advanced.

"The Treasury has strengthened its restrictions against importation of convict-made goods. Next year a provision of the tariff bill excluding all merchandise made by forced or indentured labor will become effective. But at best these are only partial barriers against the dumping program of the Soviet. Obviously more drastic action must be taken if American industries are to be protected.

"Under ordinary circumstances the tariff acts as a protection against dumping of foreign goods on the American market. But the red regime of Russia is producing goods from confiscated raw materials with slave labor. Tariff rates are ineffective against such a competitor when it undertakes to 'sweat blood out of the Russian people' and to demoralize the markets of the world. The Communist menace calls for a straight embargo that will outlaw this trade so far as the United States is concerned.

"This drastic action is justified by the purpose of the Communist program. Proceeds from the Russian goods that are dumped in the United States and other countries are being used to strengthen the communistic system. If the practice were allowed to go on, nearly every industry in the country would be undermined sooner or later. It is a short-sighted policy that allows some industries to take advantage of communistic prices today, when success of the dumping venture would mean demoralization of all markets within a few years. The five-year plan is designed to equip Russia for the destruction of capitalism.

"An embargo against Russian goods would probably mean a complete break in the commercial relations between the two countries. Critics will cry out against the Oddie bill for that reason. But what is to be gained by selling equipment to a clique that is using it to destroy American industry? Commercial relations with an enemy government that is making every effort to bring ruin upon this and other countries can not be justified under any circumstances.

"The Oddie bill ought to be enacted along with the other measures designed to protect American labor."

STATE IN CHARGE OF NEW YORK BANK

BANK OF UNITED STATES HAS CAPITAL OF $25,250,000, 50 BRANCHES

New York, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—The state superintendent of banks, Joseph A. Broderick, today took possession of the Bank of United States, an institution which had deposits of $202,972,000. There are 50 branches in New York City.

Heavy withdrawals were reported last night at 13 branches in the Bronx and Brooklyn.

The Bank of United States was organized in 1913 under a state charter. It has no connection with the federal government. the bank was reported at $225,000,000; surplus and undivided profits of $17,156,000 and gross deposits of $202,972,000. Deposits on September 30, 1929, were $242,322,280.

These negotiations, however, ended without result and the directors of the bank made the following statement this morning:

"Resolved, that whereas rumors have been circulated which caused abnormal withdrawals of deposits, and it is feared that if the bank is opened Thursday morning, these withdrawals may continue; that there will be in more than one of the branches of the bank, large numbers of persons, seeking withdrawal of their deposits, which may result in disorder, and it is desired that all depositors be treated equally and the assets conserved for their benefit; and whereas the directors feel that in view of conditions it would be unwise to continue to receive and pay out monies, that the officers of the bank be and they are hereby authorized to advise the superintendent of banks of the state of New York that they believe it to be for the best interests of the depositors of the institution that by cause of the emergency, he take possession of the assets of the bank in accordance with the banking law of the state of New York with the hope that a speedy and satisfactory reorganization be effected, the bank reorganizing on terms due to depositors paid at the earliest possible date."

CINCINNATI UNION PRINTERS FAVOR 5 DAY WORKING WEEK

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Union printers here have voted to adopt the five-day working week to relieve unemployment among printers thrown out of work by business depression and by recent discontinuance of the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The five-day week will prevail until normal conditions have been restored.

As an aid the International Typographical union has granted the Cincinnati local permission to refuse recognition of traveling cards of printers from other cities.

SAYS FORMER KAISER IS NOW JUST A 'FUNNY OLD MAN'

New York, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Hendrik Willem Van Loon, the American author, who lives in Holland, arrived today on the Red Star liner Belgenland with the report that the former kaiser of Germany is now "just a funny old man."

"Nobody pays any attention to him any more," said Van Loon, "and folk don't even know where he lives. They send him out afternoons to get some cookies and the Dutch folks say: 'Oh, there goes that funny old man!'"

Among Van Loon's treasured possessions was a picture of his pair of dachshunds which he and Professor Albert Einstein agreed "solved the problem of parallel lines."

BRAINERD TO HEAD I. C. C. AS CHAIRMAN

Washington, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Commissioner Ezra Brainerd, Jr., has been elected chairman of the Interstate Commerce commission for 1931. It was announced today.

The new chairman, who succeeds Frank McNamara, comes from Muskogee, Okla. He was appointed in 1921 by President Coolidge.

GIRL UNAFRAID BY GLADYS JOHNSON

CHAPTER I.

"KISS me, honey!"

"Not No, Neil..."

A silent struggle in the dark hall. Fear fluttering in the girl's heart—the thrilling fear which Neil could always inspire. His arms pinned her close, but she managed to twist her head so that his kiss fell on her cheek rather than her mouth.

It was exciting to have Neil want to kiss her, but the actual feel of his lips crushed on her own woke tumult in her mind, a surge of emotions which she was not sure were all pleasant.

The light of the street lamp, slanting through the glass panels of the front door did not reach this space under the stairs. Ardeth could barely make out Neil's face poised above her. A white patch... two dark holes—these were his eyes burning down into her own...

...a dark slash of mouth... Something leaped in the girl's heart—something which was not all rapture nor yet all fear. She began to struggle. "Neil, let me go! They'll wonder where I am!" she whispered frantically.

"Kiss me again, then," "Not Neil... please?" Twisting helplessly. "You shouldn't do this—waiting here for me—every night like this!"

"Why not? You like it. You're my girl, aren't you? Go on, say it. Ardeth, say you're my girl."

She had begun to struggle wildly, but in silence. Fighting herself now, because it was exciting and pleasant to have Neil's arm about her.

"Please let me go! Neil, they'll wonder... somebody'll come out and find us!" "Sh-sh!"

The warning stilled her. She ceased to struggle, and Neil's arms grew tense about her as footsteps scraped on the wooden steps outside. The front door opened. Heavy footsteps going upstairs over their heads.

The girl smothered a nervous giggle, and in the dark Neil grinned.

A door upstairs opened. Shut. "It's Tom!" The girl's whisper. "I've got to go!"

The spell was broken. He did not resist when she drew out of his arms, but he hung on to one hand and asked softly: "Want to go to a movie tonight?"

"Can't." She was groping for the banister. "Have to wash out some things for tomorrow."

"Why?" came his quick, suspicious whisper. "Who you going out with?"

She laughed teasingly. Snatched her hand away and ran lightly up the steps.

He thrust a quick hand through the spokes of the banister and caught one slim ankle.

"Who are you going out with?" he repeated darkly.

She squirmed. Smothered a laugh. "You! Foolish! Now will you let me go?"

"I'll be up in the morning..." He freed her and she fled up the stairs.

In the dark upper hall she stopped for a moment to collect herself, pressing fingers against her hot cheeks to cool them. Sharp eyes were waiting beyond that door which showed a yellow streak of light at the threshold.

Ardeth pulled her hat straight. Tucked the ends of her hair under. Smothered her blouse crumpled by Neil's embrace.

Neil shouldn't do that—wait each night for her to come home. He reached the house a whole half hour before she did. At the sound of her footsteps he would slip out of his own flat and meet her in the hall.

The dark space under the stairs had seen many such silent skirmishes as it had witnessed tonight.

Of course there was nothing really wrong. After all, she was Neil's girl. Some day, she supposed, they'd get married.

That was the way marriages happened in Ardeth's circle of life. You saw a boy you liked... or sometimes you didn't even like him—but there was no one else around at the moment. You went to a party with him—or to a movie.

You went again. Pretty soon people began to expect you to be always together. Pretty soon you found people expected you to get married. So you did.

Ardeth was Neil's girl. For three years she'd been called his girl—before then, in fact—he'd gone with her. Ever since she'd come to live with Aunt Stel and found Neil Burke in the flat below.

But Neil shouldn't stop her as you please, with never so much as a thank you—

The flame died down in Ardeth. She had the startled look of one rudely awakened.

"Oh... I'm sorry, Aunt Stel. I had to stay a little later. Mr. Hugeson wanted us to check some new stock."

She was checked by a snort from Bet, Aunt Stel's elder daughter, a girl a year younger than Ardeth.

"That's a hot one!" jeered Bet. "I suppose you think we don't know you were down there in the hall, necking with Neil Burke! Honestly, I should think you'd be ashamed! I'd die with shame if anyone opened the door and walked in on you!"

A hard, prim little line came around Bet's young mouth when she said this. You saw, in that moment, how like Aunt Stel she would be in a few years' time.

She began to struggle. "Neil, let me go!"

Ardeth flushed hotly. "You—you nasty little spy!" Her voice was low and it shook. "Spy!" Bet leaped to her guns. "A person doesn't have to spy to see what a fool you make of yourself—you boy-struck thing!"

"Boy—struck!" Ardeth was stung into defense. "You're the boy-struck one! Hanging around the phone every night hoping—" "Stop it!" Aunt Stel leaped into the breach. Pointing the carving knife at her niece to emphasize her words. "Let me tell you one thing, my girl. If you—"

"Oh, for God's sake!" Tom's bellow drowned them all out. "Shut up, can't you? How'd you expect a guy to read his paper with a pack of women yelping about?"

Crushing silence followed, for Tom was czar here. Though only twenty-six years of age, he was the elder son and had been the mainstay of the family since Uncle Ed had died.

He transfixed them with a glare before he returned to the sporting page.

With an air of injured innocence Bet subsided. Fan and Paul, the twins, who had brightened up at the promise of a quarrel, turned in disappointment to their bread and gravy and resumed their efforts to kick each other under the table, undetected. Aunt Stel set her face and grudgingly carved another portion of pot roast.

Ardeth went into the bedroom and pulled off her hat and coat. She hated these scenes coming at the end of a hard day's work. The depression which she always felt in this shabby house was creeping over her again.

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

December 11, 1905

Joseph Weitzel has decided to go into the livery business in Brainerd and a deal was consummated Saturday by which he succeeds to the business of J. M. Gray. He has rented the old Kinkle building, south of the Gardner block on South 5th street.

Brainerd was dryer than a chip yesterday so far as the saloons were concerned for Chief of Police E. H. Simmons swooped down on them about 11 a. m. with the order to close up, which was promptly obeyed. The chief of police and Mayor O'Brien had been discussing the matter. This is the first time that Brainerd has been dry in a long time, the other being during Mayor Halsted's administration.

Fred Sanborn is on the St. Thomas college basketball team and will be one of the stars of that game at the institution this winter according to the St. Paul Dispatch.

The local aerie of Eagles will celebrate their third anniversary with a social reunion of members and families Friday evening.

Work is being pushed again with vigor in the big Pickands-Mather company shaft east of the city. The men are still drifting or cross cutting and have gone about 150 feet which is past the point where the drill was first sunk. Samples of rock are being taken at intervals and sent east for analysis, the results of which are not being given out at present. The fact that this company continues its work and is expending large sums of money here is the best indication that there is something of unusual magnitude here in the ore line.

Sheriff O. P. Erickson arrived from a business trip north this afternoon. Nobby Entriken returned yesterday from New Orleans where he has been employed. He was taken sick some time ago, and came back to recuperate.

EXPERIMENT STATION ANNOUNCES NEW FLAX

St. Paul, Dec. 11.—The Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, University Farm, announces as ready for distribution a new flax of exceptional merit. This flax bears the name of "Redwing" and seed supplies are available through certified seed growers of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association.

According to an announcement issued from the station, farmers desiring seed of this new variety, which is high-yielding and wilt resistant, may secure such seed at the going price of from $3.00 to $3.25 a bushel so long as supplies are available. County agents can furnish names of local growers, or complete lists of farmers having seed for sale may be had by writing to the Agronomy Division, University Farm, St. Paul.

Some 37 certified seed growers of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association grew seed plots from seeds supplied by the Experiment Station, and it is believed that at least 2,000 bushels of seed will be available for planting next spring.

A. C. Arny, experiment station agronomist, says that Redwing flax has made its best showing in central and southern Minnesota, though it has performed well in the Red River Valley. In the valley, however, Bison does better. Redwing is somewhat higher yielding than Buda and matures three or four days earlier. It is moderately susceptible to rust, while it is resistant to wilt.

As a word of caution, it is stated that no Redwing has been produced outside of the experiment station except by certified seed growers.

PROPHESIES FRANCE AND ITALY TO CLASH

Lions Club Speaker Tells of Preparations Made by Countries in Border Protection

SPEAKS OF CONDITIONS

Old Time Methods of Production Giving Good Employment in France

France and Italy, with Switzerland following suit, are fortifying their borders as precautionary means in self defense, Dr. H. L. Lamb, Little Falls, told the Brainerd Lions club at its meeting last evening in the Ransford hotel.

The speaker, who recently returned from a visit to European countries, predicted that the next conflict would be one against France and Italy with Switzerland building its fortifications to prevent the fate which befell Belgium at the start of the world war.

Dr. Lamb further asserted that the United States was held in high light by European countries, particularly Germany, stating that on his observations there, that country had taken the stand that should another war break out it would prefer to be on the side of the United States should it enter any conflict.

Dr. Lamb's address which was one of the best and most educational heard at a Lions gathering here for many meetings took for his topic "The Economic and Political Situation in Europe." Dr. Lamb was a major in the medical corps during the world war and spent the greater part of two years overseas. He has since won a commission as a Lieutenant Colonel in the U. S. Reserves. During the past year he had the privilege of spending eight months in Europe visiting England, France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Hungary and Italy.

He said that less unemployment was seen in France than in any other European country, explaining that France's adoption of manpower rather than machinery created this situation. "France appears to be still way behind the modern times although this is working to the betterment of the employed since it is keeping them at work," he said.

Dr. Lamb said he particularly noticed the military activities of the French in that the country was strengthening its borders and that it was building up its army.

"Italy appears to be prospering and building up under a big military organization headed by Mussolini." That country as well as Switzerland is increasing strength on its borders," he said.

People appear to be prospering in Germany with new factories going up. Austria and Hungary are in hard circumstances with little employment due possibly because of its inability to join in commercial world trade, Dr. Lamb asserted.

Conditions in England are not the best with many men out of employment, many coal mines and mills being down. Competition with Russian products is one factor in bringing about this condition, Dr. Lamb stated.

TELLS FARMERS TO WATCH FALL PIGS

St. Paul, Dec. 11.—A. E. Engebretson, extension livestock specialist, University Farm, is sending out word to farmers that the outlook for hog prices, when this fall's crop of pigs is ready for the market, is very good. He says that unless all signs fail this fall's hog crop is worth most careful attention. He points out that there is a short feed supply in certain parts of the corn belt caused by the drought, that storage stocks of pork are below normal, and that there is a relatively small number of hogs in the United States.

Furthermore, Mr. Engebretson believes that the farmer who feeds his fall pigs home-grown grains will obtain a good price for such grains by marketing them in the form of pork, but the feeding of home-grown grains should be supplemented with the provision of comfortable quarters through the winter season. Such quarters should be free from drafts and yet should give an abundance of fresh dry air. To avoid drafts, he suggests the building of vestibules on the outside of hog house doors with entrance at right angles to the door in the house.

PROPHESIES FRANCE AND ITALY TO CLASH

Lions Club Speaker Tells of Preparations Made by Countries in Border Protection

SPEAKS OF CONDITIONS

Old Time Methods of Production Giving Good Employment in France

France and Italy, with Switzerland following suit, are fortifying their borders as precautionary means in self defense, Dr. H. L. Lamb, Little Falls, told the Brainerd Lions club at its meeting last evening in the Ransford hotel.

The speaker, who recently returned from a visit to European countries, predicted that the next conflict would be one against France and Italy with Switzerland building its fortifications to prevent the fate which befell Belgium at the start of the world war.

Dr. Lamb further asserted that the United States was held in high light by European countries, particularly Germany, stating that on his observations there, that country had taken the stand that should another war break out it would prefer to be on the side of the United States should it enter any conflict.

Dr. Lamb's address which was one of the best and most educational heard at a Lions gathering here for many meetings took for his topic "The Economic and Political Situation in Europe." Dr. Lamb was a major in the medical corps during the world war and spent the greater part of two years overseas. He has since won a commission as a Lieutenant Colonel in the U. S. Reserves. During the past year he had the privilege of spending eight months in Europe visiting England, France, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Hungary and Italy. He said that less unemployment was seen in France than in any other European country, explaining that France's adoption of manpower rather than machinery created this situation. "France appears to be still way behind the modern times although this is working to the betterment of the employed since it is keeping them at work," he said.

Dr. Lamb said he particularly noticed the military activities of the French in that the country was strengthening its borders and that it was building up its army.

"Italy appears to be prospering and building up under a big military organization headed by Mussolini." That country as well as Switzerland is increasing strength on its borders," he said.

People appear to be prospering in Germany with new factories going up. Austria and Hungary are in hard circumstances with little employment due possibly because of its inability to join in commercial world trade, Dr. Lamb asserted.

Conditions in England are not the best with many men out of employment, many coal mines and mills being down. Competition with Russian products is one factor in bringing about this condition, Dr. Lamb stated.

TELLS FARMERS TO WATCH FALL PIGS

St. Paul, Dec. 11.—A. E. Engebretson, extension livestock specialist, University Farm, is sending out word to farmers that the outlook for hog prices, when this fall's crop of pigs is ready for the market, is very good. He says that unless all signs fail this fall's hog crop is worth most careful attention. He points out that there is a short feed supply in certain parts of the corn belt caused by the drought, that storage stocks of pork are below normal, and that there is a relatively small number of hogs in the United States.

Furthermore, Mr. Engebretson believes that the farmer who feeds his fall pigs home-grown grains will obtain a good price for such grains by marketing them in the form of pork, but the feeding of home-grown grains should be supplemented with the provision of comfortable quarters through the winter season. Such quarters should be free from drafts and yet should give an abundance of fresh dry air. To avoid drafts, he suggests the building of vestibules on the outside of hog house doors with entrance at right angles to the door in the house.

TULSA OILERS SWAMP BUFFALO BY 11 TO 2

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 11.—The Tulsa Oilers severely drubbed the Buffalo Bulls to the count of 11 to 2 in an American Hockey League game here last evening.

Tulsa by its win went into undisputed possession of second place in the league.

This Machine Stood the Test of 33 Years' Washing WATER WITCH

IS BUILT TO LAST!

The New Electric Gyrator Water Witch Washer whose test run of 3,455 hours involved all the labor required to do the washing of a family of five for 33 years, was not a rarity among its kind. Tests every day, in all parts of the country are establishing in similar terms the rugged durability of the Water Witch, its capacity for continuous, year in and year out use.

The answer, of course, is built into the machine, into its honest materials and the sound engineering of its design which have given quality as well as quantity to wash day service.

Come in and see the new Water Witch demonstrated at our display room next to the Telephone Office or call 942 for a home demonstration. You will be delighted with this machine.

CONFESSES SHE KILLED SAM

JEWELRY AUCTIONEER

Salt Lake City, Utah, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Her bravado and flippancy gone, Jean Dayle, 21-year-old cabaret singer, today following her complete confession that she murdered Sam Franks, 65, Memphis, Tenn., jewelry auctioneer.

The mere mention of her mother, an elderly woman residing in Seattle, Wash., stripped the defensive cloak of defiance from the slim wisp of a girl.

"I killed him," she sobbed. "But don't tell mamma. I couldn't bear that."

"There was nobody with me. I did the job alone. There is a man implicated in the case. He planned the robbery with me. You'll never learn his name. I'll never tell. All you need to know is that I did the killing."

Frank was strangled and beaten to death in his hotel room last Saturday morning. The Dayle girl was arrested Tuesday and readily admitted she attempted to rob Frank, but insisted two men broke into the room and "beat me to it."

Miss Dayle "broke" after four hours' grilling. Detectives told her they knew her real identity—she had spelled her name Dayle—and urged her, for her mother's sake, to make a clean breast of the crime. The girl suddenly confessed.

Police believe Jack Guin, barber, now in custody, was the girl's accomplice.

The girl fainted twice during the account. She had intended to rob the well-to-do southerner the preceding Thursday but couldn't bring herself to do it. Her lover constantly urged her.

"He told me if I didn't do it somebody else would," she said. "He said Frank was just naturally easy pickings."

"Well Sam called me Friday night. I went up to his room and he had some whiskey. We had a flock of drinks. Then I dropped some chloral hydrate into his drink. I put him under. But about that time I fell asleep too. Later on I gave him a few more shots of chloral. He went to sleep again, but every time I moved so would he."

"I knew it had to be done, so I picked up the bottle and cracked him over the head twice. I intended only to knock him out for a little while so I could frisk his clothes and beat it."

He bled a lot and I was scared. But just the same I went through his stuff."

Then the girl related she tied his hands and stuffed one of her stockings into his mouth—actual cause of death was strangulation. She used the other stocking to tie down a telephone receiver.

"Don't make me talk about it," she screamed. "It's bad enough to dream about it."

Stockholm, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Sinclair Lewis' jibes at "the follies of mankind" were defended by Kor Hedberg, member of the Nobel committee, at a banquet honoring the Nobel prize winners in the gold room of the city hall here last night.

"It has been said that European animosity toward the United States was reflected in the bestowal of the Nobel literature prize on Lewis' work, in which mankind's follies, not excluding those specifically American, have been scourged," Hedberg said.

"This is a complete mistake. Lewis aims his blows with humor, and where there is humor, there is a heart."

Lewis and his fellow prize winners were seated in the midst of royalty at the banquet. Some 340 guests, most of them displaying shirt fronts on which medals and decorations were sprinkled, applauded brief speeches of thanks to the Nobel committee from each prize winner.

Lewis recalled his childhood in Minnesota, where he grew up among Swedish settlers. The Nobel prize imposed new difficulties upon him, he said. He considered it a special distinction to receive a prize together with three scientists, because science sets an example of integrity which literature should emulate.

Sir Chandrasekhara Venkata Raman, Indian winner of the Nobel prize in physics, and his wife were seated in the place of honor next to Crown Prince Gustaf Adolph. Prof. Hans Fischer of Munich, winner of the Nobel chemistry prize, and Dr. Karl Landsteiner of New York, winner of the prize for distinguished work in medicine, were the other Nobel prize winners present.

At the close of the banquet, members of the royalty and nobility led the procession from the gold room.

They were followed by the prize winners, while the distinguished guests stood ceremoniously on the side lines.

PAIR TO BE EXECUTED WEEK OF JANUARY 12

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Governor Fisher today set the week of January 12 for the execution of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague convicted of the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the Pennsylvania state highway patrol.

POSTERS URGE WOMEN TO BE THEMSELVES AND NOT APE MEN

Boston, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Vying with billboard cigarette advertising in Boston and vicinity today were posters urging women to be themselves and not ape men by puffing cigarettes. The posters—60 of them already have been set up in Dorchester and Quincy—are part of the crusade started earlier this week by the newly-organized Anti-Smoking League for Women.

Four and a half feet long and three feet wide, the signs, lettered in red and blue, tell women to "be feminine" and stop imitating men. Each sign bears the picture of a young girl.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Sir Chandrasekhara Venkata Raman, Indian winner of the Nobel prize in physics, and his wife were seated in the place of honor next to Crown Prince Gustaf Adolph. Prof. Hans Fischer of Munich, winner of the Nobel chemistry prize, and Dr. Karl Landsteiner of New York, winner of the prize for distinguished work in medicine, were the other Nobel prize winners present.

At the close of the banquet, members of the royalty and nobility led the procession from the gold room.

They were followed by the prize winners, while the distinguished guests stood ceremoniously on the side lines.

PAIR TO BE EXECUTED WEEK OF JANUARY 12

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Governor Fisher today set the week of January 12 for the execution of Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague convicted of the murder of Corporal Brady Paul of the Pennsylvania state highway patrol.

POSTERS URGE WOMEN TO BE THEMSELVES AND NOT APE MEN

Boston, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Vying with billboard cigarette advertising in Boston and vicinity today were posters urging women to be themselves and not ape men by puffing cigarettes. The posters—60 of them already have been set up in Dorchester and Quincy—are part of the crusade started earlier this week by the newly-organized Anti-Smoking League for Women.

Four and a half feet long and three feet wide, the signs, lettered in red and blue, tell women to "be feminine" and stop imitating men. Each sign bears the picture of a young girl.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Mrs. W. C. Mannis to Aid City Nurse
in Supervising Distribution

Dr. J. A. Thabes, president of the Brainerd Community Relief Fund, has started the machinery in motion for the relief of the poor and needy of this city by appointing Mrs. W. C. Mannis for a period of one month to assist Miss Eula Michael, the city nurse, in investigating persons applying for relief.

He also appointed C. W. McDonald, Archie R. Falconer and Mrs. W. F. Dieckhaus as a committee to okay all expenditures for relief work in conjunction with the city nurse and the poor relief committee of the city of Brainerd. In this manner it is believed that there will be no duplication of the work and only those who are worthy will be given relief. Each case will be investigated thoroughly.

The poor relief committee of the city will distribute the funds in the same manner as they have done in the past. Mrs. W. C. Mannis resigned as a member of the executive board in order to devote all her time to this particular work. Dr. Thabes appointed Mrs. Dieckhaus to fill the vacancy caused by her resignation. The treasurer, B. L. Lagerquist reported that he had in his possession at the present time the sum of $2,500.00 in cash and it is estimated that from $600.00 to $700.00 from pledges will be collected within the next two months. A number of the citizens donated clothing, merchandise, food products, etc., and this will be collected by the committee. The treasurer was authorized to issue a check for $2,000 at this time, payable to the city of Brainerd for relief committee to be spent upon the approval of the special committee appointed by Dr. Thabes last evening. Most all of the ward chairwomen have collected their cash subscriptions. A few remain to be collected and it is believed that by the end of the week it will be over, as far as the residential district is concerned.

Last night's meeting was held at the office of the secretary, D. C. Gray.

Solicitation of business houses will follow the close of the residential canvass.

FARMER CHASING RUNAWAY KILLED

Alleged Hit and Run Driver Apprehended When His Car Skidded
Into Ditch

Little Falls, Minn., Dec. 11.—(AP)—As grey haired John Yanietz, 61-year-old farmer chased his runaway horse and buggy along a county road near Elmsdale he was struck down by a speeding automobile and instantly killed. The motorist drove away.

Manslaughter charges will be placed today against Russell Carthwright, 30 Brown's Valley driver of the car who was captured a few miles away where his car skidded into the ditch, Deputy Sheriff A. R. Pearson of Elmsdale said.

Carthwright confessed to striking Yanietz, the sheriff said but did not explain a number of five gallon kegs and bottles found in the wreckage of the car. The radiator cap of Carthwright's car was found at the spot where Yanietz was killed.

FIRE FIGHTING CHECKS MAILED

Back Pay of Many Who Fought Fires go to Homes in Time for Christmas

Several thousands of dollars in checks have been mailed from the district forestry office here, E. H.
Rhodes, district ranger, for back pay to men fighting fires the past fall.

The checks which were delayed because of lack of money in the state fire fighting fund come now as acceptable Christmas cheer.

The money was made available through appropriations allotted to cover unpaid bills.

MANAGER

Jack Sords (Central Press Sports Artist) writer and artist, has this to say of Joe Bush of Brainerd in a Des Moines, Iowa, paper:

Speed king of the diamond was Bullet Joe Bush in those golden, pre-war days when another great Athletic baseball machine was roaring to ever increasing triumphs. Sensation of 1913, star of the world series, brilliant in his work on the mound, Bullet Joe Bush had one of the most glamorous debuts into the big leagues a young player has ever had.

Fresh from the minor leagues with but three games' experience in the majors, young Leslie Joseph Bush became the sensation of the 1913 campaign, winning 13 games with his blinding speed for a .650 average. Then into the world series against the powerful New York Giants for a game in which he allowed but five hits, lashed the McGrawmen into an 8-2 defeat and triumphed over two star slammers, Jeff Teague and Otis Crandall.

How different was Bush's farewell in 1928, traded and fired by six clubs in five seasons, a worn-out bit of baseball machinery!

But when Bullet Joe Bush left the big time he vowed he would come back. Not as a pitcher, of course, for Father Time had written finis to his mound career, but as a manager. And as a manager of champions.

This year Joe made his start on the road back to the big leagues. It was a humble start but he has already gone far.

Taking over the Allentown club of the Eastern League, a seventh place outfit in 1929, Joe started out his first year as a manager by winning the first half season pennant and then finished the business by beating Bridgeport in the play-off for season honors and the flag by the impressive showing of four victories to one defeat in the inter-league series.

Knowing what he knows about pitching and seeing the remarkable feat he performed in his first year, it will not be surprising if some major league magnate gives Joe a try at running his club. And if he does, watch out for Bullet Joe!

10 ROUND BOUT HELD AT CHICAGO LAST EVENING

FIGHT PROVES A DISAPPOINTMENT TO 11,000 FANS AT PUBLIC AUDITORIUM

JACKIE FIELDS, CHICAGO, BESTS

PAUL PIRONNE OF CLEVELAND IN 10 ROUNDS

Cleveland, Dec. 11.—(UP)—Eddie Shea, rugged little Chicago 126-pounder, scored an unexpected victory over Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight champion and victor over Kid Chocolate, in a 10-round encounter at Public Auditorium last night.

Appearing as the main attraction on the Cleveland News' annual Christmas fund boxing show, Shea and LaBarba proved a disappointment to the 11,000 fans who paid $39,000 with the expectation of seeing the Californian hand Shea a licking. On the grounds that LaBarba was guilty of frequent holding, the judges gave him only three rounds. LaBarba weighed in at 124 pounds.

In a far more interesting bout, Jackie Fields, Chicago, former welterweight champion, defeated Paul Pironne, Cleveland, in 10 rounds of ardent fighting. Fields' superiority at in-fighting and his success in avoiding Pironne's long range punches earned him the decision. Pironne was two pounds over Fields' weight of 147.

BETTING IS EVEN ON CHOCOLATE, BATTALINO

New York, Dec. 11.—Kid Chocolate of Cuba, despite his sensational record, is likely to have little, if any, advantage in the betting odds when he climbs through the ropes at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night for his 15-round title bout with Bat Battalino, featherweight champion.

Two months ago Chocolate would have been an overwhelming favorite to defeat Battalino, but the Cuban's losses to Jack "Kid" Berg and Fidel LaBarba cost him much prestige.

Both men completed training yesterday. Both are at fighting weights.

ONCE WORLD'S CHAMPION SPRINTER JOINS BENEDICTS

Pasadena, Calif., Dec. 11.—(UP)—Charles W. Paddock, once the world's champion sprinter, and Mrs. Neva Prisk Malaby, daughter of Charles H. Prisk, publisher of the Pasadena Star-News, will be married tonight at the Pasadena Presbyterian church with Dr. Robert Freeman officiating.

Paddock, a graduate of the University of Southern California, is studying a law course there and conducting a sports column in the Star-News. He is 30 years old. Mrs. Malaby is 26.

Speed king of the diamond was Bullet Joe Bush in those golden, pre-war days when another great Athletic baseball machine was roaring to ever increasing triumphs. Sensation of 1913, star of the world series, brilliant in his work on the mound, Bullet Joe Bush had one of the most glamorous debuts into the big leagues a young player has ever had.

Then into the world series against the powerful New York Giants for a game in which he allowed but five hits, lashed the McGrawmen into an 8-2 defeat and triumphed over two star slabmen, Jeff Tesrau and Otis Crandall.

How different was Bush's farewell in 1928, traded and fired by six clubs in five seasons, a worn-out bit of baseball machinery!

But when Bullet Joe Bush left the big time he vowed he would come back. Not as a pitcher, of course, for Father Time had written finis to his mound career, but as a manager. And as a manager of champions.

This year Joe made his start on the road back to the big leagues. It was an humble start but he has already gone far.

Knowing what he knows about pitching and seeing the remarkable feat he performed in his first year, it will not be surprising if some major league magnate gives Joe a try at running his club. And if he does, watch out for Bullet Joe!

10 ROUND BOUT HELD AT CHICAGO LAST EVENING

FIGHT PROVES A DISAPPOINTMENT TO 11,000 FANS AT PUBLIC AUDITORIUM

JACKIE FIELDS, CHICAGO, BEATS
PAUL PIRONNE OF CLEVELAND IN 10 ROUNDS

Cleveland, Dec. 11.—(U.P.)—Eddie Shea, rugged little Chicago 120-pounder, scored an unexpected victory over Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight champion and victor over Kid Chocolate, in a 10-round encounter at Public Auditorium last night.

Appearing as the main attraction on the Cleveland News' annual Christmas fund boxing show, Shea and LaBarba proved a disappointment to the 11,000 fans who paid $29.00 with the expectation of seeing the Californian hand Shea a lacing. On the grounds that LaBarba was guilty of frequent holding, the judges gave him only three rounds. LaBarba weighed in at 124 pounds.

In a far more interesting bout, Jackie Fields, Chicago, former welterweight champion, defeated Paul Pironne, Cleveland, in 10 rounds of ardent fighting. Fields' superiority in out-fighting and his success in avoiding Pironne's long range punches earned him the decision. Pironne was two pounds over Fields' weight of 147.

Two months ago Chocolate would have been an overwhelming favorite to defeat Battalion, but the Cuban's losses to Jack "Kid" Berg and Fidel LaBarba cost him much prestige.

Both men completed training yesterday. Both are at fighting weights.
